Citizens for a Safe and Healthy Texas

The 2020 Texas Republican Convention was canceled but that didn't stop many delegates from fulfilling their civic duty this week in Houston.

Citizens for a Safe and Healthy Texas member, Aubree Adams, was grateful to meet and educate many delegates on the true impacts of marijuana while being mindful to observe COVID-19 precautions.

We appreciate everyone's support and feedback!

Many people had questions about "medical marijuana". Here is some information that is important to understand.

Medicine is supported by science and clinical trials. Medicine has a known dose-response, doesn't contain contaminants like heavy metals and pesticides, and is labeled with possible risks and harms and potential drug interactions. Medicine is prescribed by licensed medical professionals from accredited medical programs.

Policies on medicine are not approved by public opinion, but by an intensive FDA approval process. Currently, there are FDA approved medications, including Epidiolex (contains CBD) and Marinol (made from synthetic THC). We support more research to seek more benefits for more possible medications. We don't support non-FDA approved marijuana products.

A recent article by Stanford Medicine explains why Chelsea Shover, PhD published a research paper on the false claim that marijuana is a treatment for opioid addiction. From the article: Such misguided medical advice "is really dangerous," Shover said. "The FDA-approved treatments for opioid use disorder are quite effective, and there's no evidence that cannabis helps,..."

"There is no such thing as medical marijuana."

Surgeon General, Dr. Jerome Adams states, "There is no such thing as medical marijuana."

Please watch and share this documentary called Smokescreen.
It's 46 mins long and worth every second.

Every state that has legalized recreational marijuana started by passing seemingly harmless "Medical Marijuana" laws.
